RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE AND AUDITING IN COMMERCIAL BANKS

HAMZA M ALAODAT

Accounting and Finance Department, Al-Hussein Bin Talal University, Jordan
E-mail: hamza.m.alaodat@ahu.edu.jo

Abstract –

This study aimed at investigating the relationship of business intelligence on internal audit quality in the Jordanian commercial banks , In this study researcher used two methods descriptive approach and deductive approach , where the questionnaire was distributed to all the study sample individuals; (120) questionnaires were distributed and only (110) questionnaires were returned , The results showed that the level of perceptions of the study sample individuals were high concerning the dimensions of business intelligence this is considered as an indicator about the importance of business intelligence systems based on its role that eliminates deviances in data and enables integration in data resources.

Keywords - Auditing, Artificial Intelligence, Data Warehouses.